MAN DETAINED OVER FLATMATE STABBING

Troubled drinker, 60, tried to murder 'pal' in 4am knife attack

Court Reporter
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A 60-YEAR-OLD has been sentenced after being found guilty of attempting to murder his flatmate.

Michael McFarlane, of Halling Hill, Harlow, has been detained for 12 years under a section 45a mental health order after he attacked 52-year-old Graham Botfield with a knife.

Chelmsford Crown Court found McFarlane guilty of attempted murder on March 22 and he received the sentence on Monday.

McFarlane said he had been hearing voices before the attack which prompted a long debate about his mental condition.

DETAINED: Michael McFarlane

Judge David Turner QC handed the sentence to McFarlane after considering he has paranoid schizophrenia and must receive hospital treatment under the Mental Health Act.

If this treatment has been completed before the 12-year sentence has passed he will spend the rest of the time in jail.

Mr Botfield was sleeping on a sofa near McFarlane, who stabbed his flatmate in the neck with a kitchen knife shortly before 4.30am on May 19, 2014.

The court heard how the victim, now 53, staggered into a neighbour's house and was taken to hospital. His life was saved by an emergency blood transfusion and surgery. McFarlane was arrested an hour after the incident.

The jury did not reach a verdict during the initial trial but he was convicted during a re-trial.

Neither man gave evidence during the trials.

Psychiatrists had different opinions about the nature of McFarlane's condition. One said his claim to have heard voices indicated paranoid schizophrenia but another said his pseudo hallucinations indicated a personality disorder.

Intention

The central issue of the trial was whether the accused had been able to form an intention to kill his flatmate or to cause bodily harm.

During the initial trial prosecutor Andrew Jackson said of the pair: "They shared the flat for some time and with others, as well. They were friends, there were ups and downs, both men drank large amounts of alcohol and very frequently."

He said Mr Botfield was noticeably drunk at the time. Afterwards he had not been prepared to tell police who had stabbed him. On Monday Judge Turner said he was satisfied that McFarlane's condition warranted medical treatment.

He told him: "Graham Botfield was stabbed in the neck by you with a kitchen knife while he was asleep on the sofa in your home. You told police you chose the neck because you thought it would be easier."

McFarlane then put the knife into the sink and scrubbed his hands and changed his clothing.

Hard-working employees rewarded for their effort

THE hard work of Princess Alexandra Hospital employees was recognised at the NHS Trust Staff Awards hosted at Harlow College.

There were 184 nominations for the 14 awards, four of which were reserved for staff who have lived out the values of the centre in Hamstel Road, Harlow, which are: responsible, respectful, caring and committed.

Phil Morley, chief executive of PAH, said: "Tonight is an opportunity to say thank you and recognise all the extra things staff do which make people think 'wow'."

"These wow moments are what have made people nominate their colleagues and this should be valued and continued in years to come."

"I think you are all winners." The awards provided an opportunity for staff to hear about what their colleagues are involved with while some inspiring stories were heard.

Natalie Gray, winner of the Patient Safety Award, was praised for her role in implementing the Protected Mealtimes Initiative, which allows patients to eat their meals uninterrupted and staff to focus on helping those unable to eat independently.

She was commended for getting the initiative implemented through sheer guts and determination.

Compliments

Professor Nancy Fontaine, chief nurse and deputy chief executive, added: "The compliments and comments about our staff epitomise what we do."

"We need to remember these comments when we face some of the challenges thrown at us and feel proud to work together at PAH."

Volunteers at PAH also received special recognition and the trust's dementia volunteer Sue Martin was given an ovation for her work.

Her nominator said: "The positive impact she has on patients cannot be over-emphasised."

Hospital trusts to work together to save money

Plan will improve patient care and create sustainable future

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertssexnews.co.uk

HOSPITAL chiefs in Harlow and Stevenage have agreed to work together in a bid to improve patient care and create sustainable services for the future.

The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust and the East and North Hertfordshire NHS Trust have signed a 'Memorandum of Understanding' and work has started to identify areas where services can be shared and/or improved through joint working.

The management of both NHS trusts agree that the majority of services provided through their respective hospitals will continue to be delivered from their current locations.

Exciting

Chief executive of the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust, Phil Morley, said: "This is an exciting time for both our trusts."

"Between us we already provide a wide range of essential acute hospital services to people in the West Essex and Hertfordshire area."

"Closer working will make sense geographically as well as offering more opportunities to provide high quality 'joined up' care for residents of North and East Hertfordshire and West Essex."

"A working group has been set up to fast-track the opportunities for service integration that have already been highlighted, as well as identifying other services which could benefit from closer working.

"We are committed to improving the quality of services that our patients receive and using our funding in the most beneficial way."

The Princess Alexandra Hospital Trust is currently in ongoing conversations with the Department of Health about updating of the hospital's buildings in Harlow.

Nick Carver, the chief executive of East and North Hertfordshire NHS Trust, which runs the Lister in Stevenage, The New QEII in Welwyn

Garden City and Hertford County hospitals, said: "We look forward to working with our colleagues at Princess Alexandra to see how we can help develop better, more efficient services for the benefit of people in both West Essex and East Hertfordshire."

Beverley Flowers, chief executive of East and North Hertfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group, one of the NHS organisations which commissions health services from both trusts and monitors their quality and effectiveness said: "With a growing and ageing population and increasing demand for health services, sharing expertise and working closer together makes good sense."

"We are committed to supporting our trust colleagues as they work more closely together in the interests of patients."

Andrew Geldard, chief officer of West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group said: "This is an important step forwards."

"West Essex CCG is committed to introducing patient centred care and this agreement means that the people of West Essex can now expect greater continuity of care, more convenient and more efficient services."

Places for People pledge their support for foodbank again

PLACES for People has confirmed sponsorship for Harlow Foodbank's van for 2016-2017 which will cover fuel and operating expenses.

The name of the housing advice service will adorn the rear of the charity's Peugeot Partner for the rest of the financial year to greatly help the charity.

Harlow Foodbank provide short term supplies to residents who are struggling to put food on the table. Since 2009 more than 17,000 people have received emergency food from the charity.

Gary Knott, director of community services, said: "We are delighted that Places for People has again confirmed that they will be sponsoring our foodbank van in 2016-17."

"This really does help us to support people in need and local front-line agencies in the community, and we are greatly encouraged and blessed by this valuable partnership."

This month the foodbank has launched an urgent appeal for longlife juice, drinking chocolate, tinned fruit, squash and cereal bars. It is important that the dates on all these items are as long as possible, so although it does take an extra second it really helps.

DONATING THEIR FEE: Hit Parade

Pub gig fundraiser for Carmela-Rose

Bid to get brave five-year-old to Disney World

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PERFORMERS and bands in Harlow are hoping to help grant a fairytale wish to a five-year-old girl who has had cancer.

Fundraiser "Carmela Kicks" will be held at The Shark pub, in Hodings Road, on Saturday, August 13, to raise money for Carmela-Rose Harkin, who is currently in remission from acute lymphoblastic leukaemia (ALL).

The gig has been organised by Hit Parade frontman Lee Cook, whose daughter Beau, five, attends Harlowbury Primary School with Carmela. The money raised will go towards funding a trip to Disney World for Carmela and her family.

"Fundraising has been going on for a while now and we have not set a target but we are going to see what we can get," he said. "We get a fee as a band that we will be donating and we hope to make as much as possible from it."

Special

Hit Parade, a covers band, will headline the special concert alongside other local acts Albino Peaches and Ben Richardson.

Lee, 33, added: "The aim is purely to get Carmela to Disney World, it is something for her to focus on and her family will be going as well."

UNDERGOING TREATMENT:
Carmela-Rose Harkin

"It was something the family never thought of, it's something that I thought I could use my talents for to help."

Carmela-Rose, whose favourite Disney character is Princess Belle from Beauty and the Beast, became poorly in September 2013. She began chemotherapy at Great Ormond Street Hospital shortly after being diagnosed with leukaemia.

After time in and out of hospital, Carmela-Rose relapsed in October last year and has since undertaken stronger chemotherapy before a bone marrow transplant in March this year.

She is currently at GOSH for treatment of a virus.

In June, paternal aunt Angela Gray played the role of fairy godmother by establishing an online appeal to raise £10,000.

The money should be enough to fly Carmela-Rose to Walt Disney World with her mother and father, Amanda, and Paul, and eight-year-old brother Baxter.

Overwhelmed

Amanda said: "I am overwhelmed by it. There are people in Harlow that are nicer than the town is given credit for. It's lovely when the community get together. They have gone above and beyond to help us."

"One of the dads [at the school] shaved his hair off. One of the mums messaged me and said they would like to do this and I was lost for words."

"Unfortunately I am in the process of packing up to go to Great Ormond Street. They are transferring Carmela over. Her donor cells have been depleted as a virus could be attacking the bone marrow."

"It is humbling. They are all amazing," she added.

The concert will begin at 7pm. Entry is free but donations can be made on the door while funds will also be raised with a raffle, where prizes include a football kit, beauty treatment and personal training sessions.

Cash office to close in bid to make savings

£60,000 could be made by the move

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Council is looking to save £60,000 a year by closing their Civic Centre cash office.

Jon Clempner, council leader, is backing a motion that could see the bureau, where council tax and bills can be paid, relocated to another location.

Convenient

Cllr Clempner, part of the ruling Labour group, said the move could free up resources and be more convenient for residents.

He said: "As was made clear in cabinet, the outline plans for closing the cash office, which were part of a wider review of customer services, will not take place for two years.

"This will not be before full consultations have been completed."

The cashier desks, open at the Civic Centre from Monday to Friday, can take payments for Council Tax, bills and fines.

ANGRY: Russell Perrin

But while the in-house service could close, Cllr Clempner said there will be a replacement.

"Alternative facilities will need to be put in place for residents to pay, like many do for their bills at places like the Post Office or their bank which are open longer hours," he added.

Bills can be also paid online and by telephone, and Cllr Clempner encouraged the adoption of a more web-first interaction with residents.

He said: "Many people want and expect to be able to pay their council tax bill, rent, or request a service in the same way they do with their bank, or for many do their shopping, over the internet.

"This will also free up resources to give more personal service for those who cannot, or don't want to, use digital services or have circumstances that are best dealt with face to face."

However, Conservative councillors have criticised the motion which they said has not accounted for the inconvenience.

Tory councillor Russell Perrin said: "The council is only putting forward the positive reasons for closing the cash office as they see it, which is to save money.

"They have neglected to address any of the negative impacts this closure may have on residents.

"This is a classic case of this council being penny wise and pound foolish."

Party to help young carers

SUMMER flavours of Pimms, strawberries, cream and scones were enjoyed at the Harlow Inner Wheel Club's charity garden party.

More than £500 in proceeds from the knees up went to Harlow Young Carers who have been supporting unpaid carers for the past 25 years.

Club president Jean Hudspeth opened her garden for the party and 75 members of the ladies club, their friends and Fiona Langridge from the charity attended the event.

Anne Crawford, club correspondent, said: "The charity inspired us all with stories of how children from the ages of eight to 18 provide care and take responsibility for the care for a person on a regular basis.

"They may be the main carer or provide partial care for an adult or sibling and without their help they would not be able to manage."

She added: "Jean's aim during her year as president is to offer as much help as she can to enable these children to enjoy a summer outing or Christmas party.

"The International Inner Wheel theme for the coming year is Touch a Heart."

Beloved pet taken from popular pub

PUB owners are pleading for the safe return of a beloved cat after the feline was stolen.

Six-year-old Elizabeth is a favourite of customers of The Rainbow and Dove Pub and Restaurant in Hastingwood Road, Harlow.

The cat was stolen last Monday evening. Owners say CCTV footage shows two men, who drank in the pub and asked about the animal, bundling a panicked Elizabeth into their car and driving off.

Jules Foreman, 38, manager of The Rainbow and Dove, said: "Two young men came in for a drink and asked us about the cat. They said they were looking after her and grabbed her after finishing their drinks."

The men were said to be aged between 20 and 25 while Elizabeth is the only house pet who has been living there for a few years.

Ms Foreman continued: "Everyone is concerned and devastated here. Some of our staff have been out looking for her and hope to see the car that they were driving."

Essex Police has been informed about the incident.

Shopping centre fun day draws a crowd

HUNDREDS of families enjoyed face painting and live music at the annual Water Gardens fun day in Harlow.

This year, visitors were treated to meet and greet sessions with the Minions, characters made famous from the film Despicable Me, as well as Punch and Judy shows, toddler tennis and a Pets' Corner showcase to celebrate its 50th anniversary.

The Water Gardens' retailers also got in on the act with children eating free at Frankie and Benny's, free dough balls for shoppers from Pizza Express and buy one get one free milkshakes inside coffee shop Esquires.

Fantastic

The Water Gardens centre manager Beryl Murphy said: "We had a fantastic day, the weather was lovely and the centre was very busy throughout the day.

"Security had their work cut out looking after the Minions," she added.

The Water Gardens' next event will be over the weekend of August 13 and 14, when a giant screen will be erected for shoppers to watch, picnic and enjoy the Rio Olympics.

A film, which has not yet been confirmed, will also be screened in the evening on Saturday, August 13.

Cycling mums raise hundreds for the hospice

Delays fail to stop pair enjoying event

William Mata

TWO cycling mothers raised more than £1,000 for St Clare Hospice despite the race they were taking part in being significantly shortened.

Gaynor Watson, 58, from Old Harlow, along with her friend and Kier Harlow colleague Sue Grosvenor, 52, raised a combined £1,200 for the Hastingwood-based hospice.

Crashes

Two serious crashes delayed and cut the race short but both women enjoyed the experience.

Gaynor said: "The crowds were very supportive. We had our names on our t-shirts and it was like having our own personal fan club, it was really nice.

"There were a lot of people out to watch the race go past."

Gaynor, a mother of three, and Sue, who has two children, have completed many charity challenges over the years in aid of St Clare, who rely on donations.

The pair were among 27,000 amateur cyclists starting from the Olympic Park in Stratford and heading into Surrey before rounding back to the capital and finishing at The Mall. Up ahead the race was brought to a halt after one man crashed into a tree. Hundreds of cyclists were held for an hour between Pyrford and Ripley in Surrey as organisers regrouped. In another incident a 48-year-old man taking part sadly died.

PEDAL POWER: Sue Grosvenor and Gaynor Watson rode 75 miles

Famous climbs Box Hill and Leith Hill were missed out on the route which was cut from the planned 100 miles to around 75.

Gaynor continued: "We got re-routed. It was lovely having roads closed to the traffic and it was enjoyable, but they cut the hardest part.

"It was very easy and very flat, and fast. We got diverted at the bottom of Box Hill and we were just zooming into London."

She added: "We have been training for about eight or nine months, going out every weekend. We were relieved to have finished, it still felt like an achievement. We will definitely put our names into the ballot to come back."

The professional race, which followed the amateur race, was also held for half an hour to allow for delayed stragglers to finish the course, which was similar to one used in the London Olympic Games.

The sessions include: Short mat bowls, Pilates, a walking group, and line dancing as well as badminton and table tennis.

Devolution concerns

HARLOW: Councillors remain sceptical about what any government attempt to devolve powers to local authorities would look like in practice.

Harlow Council leader Jon Clempner led a debate at the authority's full council meeting on Thursday (July 28), in which he said he was in favour of local authorities having more powers.

Among the options under devolution would be the appointment of a directly elected mayor for Essex. Like in London and soon Manchester, the mayor would be elected by the people living in the local authority area.

But councillors in Harlow expressed concerns that Essex was "too diverse" and "not compact" like London and Manchester.

Cllr Clempner said: "But Essex is too big and too diverse. I hope the new Government recognise the local needs."

Cinema will open at end of the year

Multiplex construction work in final phase

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

CONSTRUCTION workers have revealed they are on schedule to raise the curtain at new the Harvey Centre cinema before Christmas.

Building firm Speller Metcalfe is finishing off the shell and structure of the £6.5m venue before handing over to Cineworld on August 15.

The multiplex will hold six screens, including a 259-seat screen with IMAX 3D facilities, and will be the first time a cinema has been in Harlow town centre since the West Gate Odeon closed in 2005.

More than four years after plans were originally shared, construction manager Phil Turner said: "It's all on track and we are very pleased with progress."

"It has been a challenging and interesting job. It has been tricky because there is a lot of metal that has gone into this space."

"Last week we had an acoustic test and it passed with flying colours."

Harvey Centre shoppers have recently been given a glimpse of the future when Speller Metcalfe replaced white hoarding with glass panels to unveil the cinema's ticket office area.

Structure is now in place for Cineworld to install seats, screens, carpets, furnishings and projectors. The company's cinema in Edinburgh Way, Harlow, will continue to be open as normal.

PROGRESS: Speller Metcalfe construction manager Phil Turner with Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young are pleased with the development

No date has been confirmed for opening but Star Wars fans will be praying the venue is ready to show new prequel Rogue One, which is released on Friday, December 16.

Mr Turner added: "We have got a good team of guys on the site and they were superb considering the amount they had to do."

"Everybody has worked as a team."

At the peak 60 staff were on the site at one time but the numbers have been reduced now the finishing touches are being applied.

The Harvey Centre, which currently locks up before 10pm, at will stay open until midnight to accommodate Cineworld.

Bryan Young, Harvey Centre manager, said: "We are very pleased, I think the most exciting thing is the community involvement. They have been doing tours with the community and keeping them up to date."

"We have had lots of positive comments and few negative ones."

Authority's pledge to end hate crime

A PLEDGE to oppose racism and xenophobia in Harlow was agreed by Harlow Council.

Labour councillor Stefan Mullard put forward the motion with all parties committing to ensuring Harlow is a safe place for all.

Cllr Mullard said: "To the people of this community who feel vulnerable the message is very clear. This council stands against hate crime and, for as long as I am part of it, always will. Hate crime will never be accepted in this town."

He noted that there has been a recorded 50 per cent increase of hate crime since the European Union referendum on June 23.

We celebrate our diverse cultures

SIR, In Harlow we have a proud tradition of openness, fairness, tolerance and an embrace of different cultures, religions and races.

At a time when many in our communities are anxious for the future we celebrate all that our different cultures have and do contribute to our community.

The welcome we have given people in the past is something of which we can be proud, and which has enriched us all.

As members of different traditions we stand for love, fairness and compassion, and oppose intolerance in all its forms.

Violent language leads to violent behaviour and we have many examples of this throughout the world today.

We, members of the community in Harlow, are totally opposed to any who would seek to spread disharmony.

We believe that the lessons of history show that racism not only leads to fear and intimidation, but also destroys the very values we all hold dear.

We pledge to work with all to seek a cohesive community that celebrates diversity, so that all may share in their common bond of humanity, liberty and fraternity.

We will strongly resist anything that threatens this and so weakens our community.

This is a time to be building bridges not walls, so that shared concerns may not breed resentment and hatred.

Grass cutting is not good enough

SIR, I am aware that there are current issues with the frequency and standard of grass cutting across the town and this is causing some concern from residents and councillors.

I am disappointed that standards are not being met and I apologise to

READER'S PHOTO

■ Star reader Anne Small of Old Harlow captured this image of Market Street. She said: "The Crown's flower display is always such a joy. As a keen gardener, I know how much effort goes into creating and maintaining such an amazing show as this. It's beautiful." If you have a photograph you have taken in or around Harlow which you would like to be featured in the Star, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a brief description of where and when it was taken, to star@hertssexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address.

residents.

Grass is being cut but not always within the number of working days promised and not to the standard our residents' expect.

These issues are being taken up with our contractors, Kier Harlow, and I will be monitoring the situation very closely to ensure things get back on track sooner rather than later.

Subject to weather conditions we aim to cut the grass in housing areas every 17 working days, highway verges cut every 24 working days with large open spaces cut every 34 working days.

Some areas of grass are left long and only cut once a year to encourage wildlife and promote biodiversity.

Service standards and grass cutting schedules can be found on the council's website at www.harlow.gov.uk landscapes.

The strimming team's main work recently has been cutting back summer obstructions along footpaths and slight lines around main road junctions and in housing areas.

This has meant that strimming around fence lines and other more remote obstacles is taking a lot longer than expected leaving areas which have been cut still looking messy.

In addition to grass cutting, every year three town-wide weed sprays of hard surfaces are carried out.

The first took place in March and Kier Harlow completed the second weed spraying treatment last week.

Spraying had been delayed due to the wet weather over the last two of weeks in June; as this would weaken the chemical being applied.

The third treatment is planned for the second week of September.

It is the case that we do cut the grass less than we once did many years ago simply because we have less money, however we are aware that keeping open spaces properly maintained is a priority for residents.

We currently receive £41,500 a year as a contribution to the maintenance of the highway areas owned by Essex County Council. This is roughly what it would cost to give the grass on these areas two cuts per year: but we cut it seven times a year between mid-March and mid-October, and we also provide weed spraying on hard surfaces and maintenance of trees and hedges on county council land.

Cllr Danny Purton

Portfolio Holder for Environment

They've made it worse not better

SIR, As it has been reported the town looks a mess due to the state of the grass length. Only now is it being cut.

But as the grass was so long in length before it was cut all that grass is now turning to straw which means in the school holiday children still can't play on the field for the amount of straw laying on the surface of the fields.

I know things have changed not for the better in my opinion in days gone by mowers had grass boxes to collect the cuttings now all we see is sit on mowers chopping the grass not cutting it.

Brian Hood

We pay and still mistakes made

SIR, In 'Family say council blamed them for window mistake' of July 21, it would seem that the council's contractor on instructions from our unaccountable housing services fitted the wrong windows in a Grade II listed building, is anyone really surprised that they then tried to blame the tenants and get them to pay to put things right?

We pay through the nose for a senior council management team, housing services team, a managing contracts team and Kier management team and it seems that between them they cannot even send out one correct letter let alone accept they got it wrong again!

Past experience leads me to believe that the property would have been surveyed at least four times and inspected three times to ensure the tenant could not claim for damaged caused by the proposed works, someone would have specified the work and costed it all out.

All these highly paid 'professionals' and not one of them noticed it was a Grade II listed building.

All we get is the same rhetoric from the council 'We are reviewing our procedures to ensure this does not happen again'.

I have lost count of how many times the council has reviewed procedures and it makes no difference they continue to get it wrong because there is no incentive for them to get anything right, and as always we have to pick up the tab.

It needs strong tenant and resident scrutiny that would provide our elected representatives with the evidence to hold officers to account.

You would have thought that after the EU referendum showed that we are not satisfied with the establishment, Harlow Council would have at least attempted to raise it game just a little.

Mike Carr

Celebrating 50 years of classic family favourite

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THOUSANDS of people visited the Pets' Corner 50th Anniversary fun day in Harlow over the weekend.

More than 5,000 enjoyed the Harlow Town Park event, which was hosted by Pets' Corner staff and volunteers, supported by the Friends of Pets' Corner.

The event was officially opened with a speech from the chairwoman of Harlow Council, Edna Stevens.

"The idea of Pets' Corner came originally from a former headmaster of Broadfield Junior School, Mr G Tarry," she said.

"Harlow Urban Council considered the idea in 1962 and gave the go-ahead to build Pets' Corner in November 1964.

Wonderful

"It opened with two staff – Mrs Margaret Rose and the manager, Mr Rodney Wood. Rodney Wood managed Pets' Corner for 26 years until 1992, when he handed the reins over to Justin Hopwood, who still is the current manager.

"Pets' Corner has been a big part of many people lives, growing up with this wonderful facility, people visited as children are now visiting with their grandchildren.

"Pets' Corner is an important part of our community working with many local academies running various education programmes."

Pets' Corner has always been run by Harlow Council supported by volunteers and more recently the Friends of Pets' Corner. The free facility first opened on May 17, 1966.

Wooded area transformed

A PATCH of redundant land in the grounds of Freshwaters Primary Academy has been transformed thanks to developer Linden Homes. The new area provides a calming environment for children to learn about nature and wildlife, and a great place to read.

Teacher Jacinta Addison said: "The land, previously a disused pond and wooded area, had become overgrown, full of brambles and had been started to be used as a dumping ground."

"This project has provided plenty of writing opportunities and has encouraged the children to take pride in their school. It was also important to transform this space as a third of the children do not have their own gardens at home."

Pupil Rae White, nine, who uses a motorised wheelchair, is among the children to benefit from the redeveloped area: "I used to find going out to enjoy the forest difficult as I couldn't access most of the area but now with the work being complete it has been great to be able to venture in to the nature reserve to learn and play."

Trevor Dempsey, managing director at Linden Homes Eastern, said: "The area at Freshwaters Academy is unrecognisable following the hard work put in to transform this area, and it is brilliant to hear that the school has been putting the space to good use."

Support was also given by local businesses H2O plants and Matthews Plants.

Musician is among the winners of competition

AN ASPIRING musician from Harlow was among the winners of a national competition after taking part in council-led grime music workshops.

More than 8,000 secondary school pupils from across the county have been encouraged to explore their creativity through the VIP Studio Sessions programme, which is funded by Essex County Council-led Essex Music Education Hub.

The workshops, geared at teaching young people how technology can support live musical performances, have been supported by music producer Max Wheeler and rap artist DJ Eyez.

Pupils have also had the opportunity to create their own songs, have them listened to by professionals and even enter them into a monthly national competition.

There have been three Essex winners since the competition started in September last year.

They were Jake Shipton, a Year 7 at Burnt Mill Academy in Harlow, DJ Weezy AKA Liam Amadi, a Year 9 at Hylands School, Chelmsford, and Nimrod 100 AKA Jacob Lawrence, Year 10 at Helena Romanes School, Great Dunmow.

Jake said: "I have used the VIP Studio to create my own tracks. I'm so excited about production and I will become a professional music producer."

College students honoured

Harlow ceremony to mark personal and academic achievements

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW College students were honoured at a ceremony celebrating both personal and academic achievements.

The annual Student Celebration Awards were also organised by the young people, who managed the catering, technical support and presentations.

The show kicked off with a stunning performance from Level 3 Dance students, who came back to wow the audience again during the interval with a powerful, contemporary version of the song Cell Block Tango from the stage show Chicago.

Hosts for the evening were Level 3 Performing Arts acting students Lyle Kilbey and Olu Kayode, both of whom entertained the crowd while being professional.

All the young people receiving awards were nominated by their tutors for outstanding achievement, both academically and in terms of their commitment and drive to overcome adversity.

The awards were sponsored by

local employers, who continue to support the college.

These partnerships form a crucial part of student life, as there is often the opportunity for work experience, apprenticeship placements and the exchanging of skills, all vital to the growth of the local economy.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon spoke at the event, and said: "This awards ceremony is a very special evening. It celebrates not just the academic achievements of the students but also their determination and their effort."

"This college excels in making sure that we get the best out of our students and we give everyone the best possible chance in life."

Harlow College principal Karen Spencer added: "It's always fantastic to celebrate the achievement of our students - the Awards Evening is one of our Harlow College highlights of the year as we also get to do this alongside parents, employers and community."

"The awards this year showed what a talented group of students we have - there were great dance and music performances, as well as recognition of excellence and progress to top universities and employers. Our students really are a credit to Harlow."

Money raised will help fund more support

£700 collected at the summer fete

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A SUMMER fete at Livingstone House raised £700 to fund activities for the adults with learning disabilities who live there.

Friends, family and members of the public enjoyed the fun day at the residential home in Potter Street, Harlow, which is run by Sanctuary Supported Living.

Sean Oliver-Fitch, support worker, said: "We had a fantastic response on the day in terms of visitor numbers."

"These were not just from those who already know our residents well but also those in the wider community who wanted to know more about what we do."

Visitors enjoyed live music, a barbecue, raffle, coconut shy, tombola and craft stalls while Essex County Fire and Rescue Service also visited and ran activities.

Residents and their families helped with the running of the day.

Mr Oliver-Fitch added: "We would like to thank everyone who made the effort to come along."

"The funds will make a great difference to residents by giving them the opportunity to try new experiences."

"The day itself was a fantastic way to bring the area together."

The service safeguards rail track and property in Essex and competed against big names for a National Responsible Business Champion Award.

Baroness Altman hosted the ceremony for which businesses were judged on their services to the community and their promotion of a positive workplace environment.

Land Sheriffs did not win the award, but Harlow MP Robert Halfon presented the company with their nomination certificate.

Mr Halfon said: "I congratulate Land Sheriffs. They were up against tough competition. It was a great achievement to have been nominated."

Giant footprint found

A TOUR guide stumbled across a giant 1.2 metre dinosaur footprint that is thought to be one of the biggest ever found.

The print, which measures more than a metre wide, is thought to have been made by the meat-eating abelisaurs some 80 million years ago.

It was found some 40 miles (64km) outside the city of Sucre in central Bolivia, in an area well known for dinosaur tracks being found in the soft clay of the region.

The tour guide found the giant impression earlier this month.

Skeletal remains of abelisaurs, pictured, have also previously been found in the region.

FOR PETE'S SAKE: Bryce Dallas Howard is Grace and Robert Redford is Mr Meacham in the remake of Pete's Dragon, out next week

The Bryce is right

Bryce Dallas Howard grew up watching the original Pete's Dragon and can't wait to show her kids the remake. Keeley Bolger discovers why the story is just as enchanting second time round

When Jennifer Aniston recently shone the spotlight on the body-shaming female celebrities experience in an astute Huffington Post essay, the world responded with blog posts, TV discussions and a flurry of support from fellow actors. And among those in Jen's corner was Bryce Dallas Howard.

Growing up in the business, with Happy Days star and Da Vinci Code, Rush and A Beautiful Mind director Ron Howard as a father, she believes the article penned by Aniston, who has been dogged with pregnancy rumours and constant analysis of her body shape, was long overdue.

"Jen approached that essay with such grace and wisdom and courage," says Howard, known for her performances in films like Jurassic World and The Help. "Often, people will say about celebrities, 'We don't want to hear it', but she had something to say that wasn't just about being someone who's in the public eye."

"It was about women, but also just about humans in general and how we interact with one another, and the ways in which judgement can affect a person. I felt she really took a stand for people taking a responsibility for their own words and the things they put out there. What she did was really important."

At just 35, Howard is already an old hand in the industry, fully versed in the changes going on behind and in front of the camera.

Though her parents (her mum is author Cheryl Howard) were initially reluctant for her and her three younger siblings to become actors, they eventually relented, allowing their eldest daughter to play a tiny un-credited role in her dad's 1989 comedy Parenthood.

Howard visited her father's film sets during school holidays, and as soon as she was old enough, trained at NYU's Tisch School of The Arts, where she met her future husband Seth Gabel, later to be recognised for his roles in The Da Vinci Code and US TV series Fringe.

Family

Being part of a famous family – her grandfather Rance Howard and late grandmother Jean Speegle Howard were both actors, while uncle Clint Howard starred in Apollo 13 and her younger sister Paige works as a TV actress – could be a hindrance, with accusations of nepotism never too far away, but she has a different view.

"Honestly, I've pretty much only experienced really positive things," says the star, who shares her famous dad's trademark friendly grin and auburn hair.

"Obviously, it's a great help when you ask your parents for advice about the work you're doing [and they can] give you a well-informed answer."

"Also, my parents were very supportive of me," she adds. "They didn't say, 'Get a real job'. They did say, 'Listen, you're going to have to get real jobs to make a living but, of course, we're fully supportive of you doing this'."

"Having parents like that makes all the difference."

Now a mum herself, Howard is confident her next film, Pete's Dragon, will charm her nine-year-old son Theodore and four-year-old daughter Beatrice.

A remake of the 1977 part-animated, part-live-action Disney film starring Mickey Rooney and Shelley Winters, Howard plays forest ranger Grace, the daughter of wood carver Mr Meacham (Robert Redford).

Grace becomes acquainted with a mysterious 10-year-old called Pete (played by Oakes Fegley) who lives in the woods she works in and, in a striking resemblance to the stories her father used to tell, claims to live with a green dragon called Elliot.

It's a story Howard grew up with.

"Pete's Dragon was one of my favourite films as a child," recalls the actress.

"One of my earliest memories of watching a movie is watching Pete's Dragon. There's something singular about that film... I don't know what it is, but it immediately touches the inner child in me."

So did she have any reservations about signing up for a remake of such a well-loved story?

"I was really curious," she states. "I wanted to read the script. I was like, 'What are they going to do?' and when I read it,

I was so moved. This story largely feels very original. It definitely has the same central characters as Pete and Elliot and obviously it has the same title and some of the themes, but other than that, it's a very original, magical story that I wasn't expecting."

While child stars traditionally have a reputation for being precocious, Howard insists Fegley and Oona Laurence, who play Grace's step-daughter Natalie, were "really smart, creative, genuine young people".

Likewise, the two youngsters are full of praise for their co-star.

"She was a very motherly figure," notes Fegley. "She's always making sure your hair is in the right place and she's always keeping you safe. She's protective."

Classic

As protective and motherly as she might be, one of the draws for Howard was the way in which darker themes were explored.

"Pete's Dragon reminds me so much of the classic, great Disney films of my youth, where they're filled with innocence, wonder and adventure, but don't shy away from the realities of loss and disappointment and heartbreak."

"This movie has an emotional centre that really touched me, while I was watching it and while I was making it," adds Howard. "I can't wait to show this to my kids."

■ Pete's Dragon is released in cinemas on Friday August 12

FILMS OUT THIS WEEK

SUICIDE SQUAD: Margot Robbie stars as Harley Quinn

SUICIDE SQUAD (15, 123 mins)

It's good to be bad – unspeakably bad – in David Ayer's action-packed fantasy based on the anarchic DC Comics anti-heroes of the same name, which is poised to smash box office records on the other side of the Atlantic. Scheming US government agent Amanda Waller (Viola Davis) hatches a diabolical scheme to round up some of the most dangerous incarcerated criminals in the world and use them to carry out covert missions with a limited chance of success. Misfit members of Task Force X – or the Suicide Squad as it becomes known – will be kept in check with micro-bombs implanted in their necks. Anyone who defies authority or strays from the mission brief will be swiftly terminated. By completing their tasks, the group members can reduce their sentences. The squad thrives on violence and bloodshed and they rise to the challenge of unravelling a terrifying mystery centred on a possessed archaeologist called June Moone (Cara Delevingne), whose burgeoning powers threaten to reduce Gotham to rubble. Meanwhile, battle rages on the city streets between masked vigilante Batman (Ben Affleck) and demented supervillain The Joker (Jared Leto), who conducts his reign of terror flanked by trusty henchmen Jonny Frost (Jim Parrack) and Monster T (Common). Ike Barinholtz and Scott Eastwood co-star in secret, pivotal roles.

MIKE AND DAVE NEED WEDDING DATES (15, 98 mins)

Brothers in need are a danger to themselves in Jake Szymanski's foul-mouthed and raucous comedy. Jeanie Stangle (Sugar Lyn Beard) wants her impending nuptials to her sweetheart Eric (Sam Richardson) to be the happiest day of her life, but she is concerned that her knucklehead brothers Mike (Adam DeVine) and Dave (Zac Efron) will ruin the big day with their drunken antics. In order to maintain calm, Mike and Dave's parents Burt (Stephen Root) and Rosie (Stephanie Faracy) insist that the siblings attend the wedding in Hawaii with respectable girls on their arms. Mike and Dave decide to advertise for dates and their plea leads to a television appearance on The Wendy Williams Show. Party girls Tatiana (Aubrey Plaza) and Alice (Anna Kendrick) are excited by the promise of an all-expenses trip to Hawaii so they put on their best airs and graces to impress the Stangles. Mike and Dave are fooled by the ruse and Tatiana and Alice are whisked away to the paradise island for Jeanie's big day, where the girls gradually reveal their true selves and wreak more havoc behind the scenes than the brothers.

Blues star to play at town club

WORLD-RENOWNED blues band Paul Lamb and the King Snakes will be the latest talented musicians to play at Harlow Cricket Club.

Paul is one of the most famous harmonica players in the country and has been inducted into the British Blues Awards Hall of Fame.

He is best known for the 1994 chart hit Harmonica Man, released under the pseudonym Bravado, while he has also collaborated with Mark Knopfler, The Who and Rod Stewart.

After growing up idolising blues legend Sonny Terry, Paul got the chance to work with his hero after he represented Great Britain in the 1974 World Harmonica Championships.

Paul said of his time with the great man: "It was a great learning period for me with the maestro. Sonny was very kind and spent a lot of time educating me about the blues."

He fronts the group which also includes Chad Strentz on vocals and guitar, while Paul's son Andy Lamb plays dynamic guitar.

They will play at the club in Chippingfield, Old Harlow, on Friday, August 12.

'The only way is onwards and upwards'

More than 35 years after she joined ska sensations The Bodysnatchers, singer Rhoda Dakar is embarking on a solo project.

Backed by a five-piece band the 56-year-old Londoner will perform at The Square in Fourth Avenue on Friday, August 26.

But her immediate attention is focused on The LoTek 4, a series of EPs which will be released after self-funding online with PledgeMusic.

Rhoda enters the studio to record the stripped back sounds, which will be a mixture of new material and covers, in a buoyant mood after the success of her previous Pledge campaign.

More than double the target money was reached for the Rhoda Dakar Sings The Bodysnatchers, a classy re-recording of material written by the band in the 1980s.

"It's brilliant," said Rhoda on the success of the campaign. "There is no way it would have got released otherwise."

"People had been asking us to do it for years and we got 220 per cent of the target which shows the demand. I had to close it down after that because we had to get the product out by a deadline and we couldn't do it fast enough."

She added: "We are going into the studio doing a project called The LoTek 4 which is somewhere between acoustic and amplified music."

"When we do acoustic music we take it down to the bare minimum. There will be three EPs and a fourth featuring some remixes and re-visions, with some new stuff too."

The band has currently reached 94 per cent of the online funds needed to make the EPs, the first of which, Vol 1, has been slated for release in September.

While the gig at The Square is an official first, she did play a DJ set at The Herald pub in Harlow last year. This summer she has already taken her band to Glastonbury Festival and been playing a mixture of old material and a few new favourites.

"We will mostly be playing music from The Bodysnatchers, but we will be doing one or two other things," she said. "We have snuck a couple of new ones into recent sets and no-one seemed to mind."

Talking about Glastonbury, where she played both the Left Field and Hell Stage, she added: "It went well, Left Field went very well."

"It is such a huge arena and we had quite a small audience at the Hell Stage as it's more of a night time stage and we were on from 8 o'clock. I guess people had other places to be at that time."

"We have a got a few festivals coming up over the summer, including one in Belgium."

The Bodysnatchers shot to the big time when they were signed to the legendary 2 Tone label after only their second gig and toured alongside Madness and The Specials.

Two top-50 hits followed in Let's Do Rocksteady and Easy Life, which were both released in 1980. However, the all-female band were short-lived and disbanded in 1981 having never released an album.

Rhoda went onto perform with The Special AKA before going solo and has recorded one album of her own.

"I don't have a particular favourite song," said Rhoda, "It depends on the day, on the venue, on the crowd and the interaction between people."

"Every period has been different. It's great to be touring all over the place but I don't stop and it can be quite hard. The highs are when you are playing with friends, it can be very relaxing as well."

A lot has changed since 1979 and Rhoda likes to keep in the present which gives her music and relevant and up-to-date feel.

She said: "People talk about the good old days but there have been some big developments which have been brilliant. There has been a black President, not once but twice. There is also gay marriage now which I never thought I would see, but that is great as I have a lot of friends who are gay."

"There is a lot of work to do, don't get me wrong, but the only way is onwards and upwards."

"Hasn't Harlow changed too? It used to be Harlow New Town. People had these ideas to build new places and they just kind of went out and left them to it."

"I am looking forward to playing there."

■ Tickets cost £10 for the gig which also includes support from The Defektors. For bookings and more information visit: www.thesquareharlow.com.

Artist inspired by the Cornish coast

THE CORNISH coast was the inspiration for painter Neil Robbins' series of peaceful and happy works.

His brushworks, complemented by fish-themed ceramics from artist Marilyn Andreetti, are the subject of Sea and Shore, the latest exhibition at Parndon Mill Gallery in Harlow.

The works will be displayed in the gallery, off Elizabeth Way, from Thursday, August 11 to Sunday, September 18.

He said: "Many people ask me, why I choose Cornwall. The appeal of the Cornish coast to me is, for some reason, overwhelming and almost magical."

"Over recent years, I have found a deeper peace and happiness painting this coastline. Collectors of my work have already noticed the change, becoming less abstract, more studied, and quieter in tone."

"But I hope still mindful of the poetic, and the wonderment of an imaginative source, the sea and sky."

Neil's work features landscapes capturing the essence and beauty of the coastlines through glowing paint colours.

He added: "I feel this new group of paintings, exclusively completed for this show, is the most accomplished work I have done to date."

Marilyn uses red earthenware clay using underglaze colours to draw and paint the images and decorates them by sgraffito scratching technique."

The gallery opens Tuesday to Friday from 10am to 5pm and on Sunday from 2pm to 4pm. On August Bank Holiday the gallery will be open from 2pm to 4pm.

■ Entry is free and for more information visit the website www.parndonmill.co.uk/gallery.

Covers band ready for a busy month

COVERS playing duo ReMark are back in Harlow this week for the latest stop in their summer touring around town.

Band members Mark and Bex have just completed their busiest ever month in July with six gigs, four of which were at town pubs.

August will include appearances at The Essex Skipper in Harlow on Thursday 25 and Town Park festival LinkFest on Sunday 28.

Their immediate attention though is turned to a gig this Friday (August 5) at The Herald in Broadley Road, Harlow.

ReMark has a large catalogue and have been known to cover the likes of Tracey Chapman, Led Zeppelin, Abba and The Fratellis.

With Bex on vocals, songs are typically female-led but they have a large range that could include just about anything.

National treasures on a plate

Following the release of the National Trust's seasonal cookbook, Claire Spreadbury rounds up some of her favourite recipes

WHEN you think of the National Trust, it's likely you picture lush green lawns, meandering walks and family days out. But for me, the cafes serving the unbelievably delicious food are just as worthy a visit as the historic houses and grand gardens themselves.

Each year, National Trust visitors tuck into more than 100,000 plates of sausage and mash, almost 700,000 steaming hot bowls of soup and well over a million moreish scones, washed down – of course – with almost seven million cups of tea and coffee.

Now that summer might have finally arrived, however, you can invite friends and family around and cook up a storm with the National Trust's very own cookbook. You can't fail to impress – especially when armed with these recipes...

Goat's Cheese and Spinach Quiche

SERVES 8

Ingredients

For the pastry:

SAVOURY FAVOURITE: Goat's cheese and spinach quiche

225g plain flour
Pinch salt
½tsp dried mixed herbs
115g butter, diced
50g cheddar cheese, grated
1 egg, beaten
1-2tbsp milk
For the filling:
200g potatoes, diced
1tbsp vegetable oil
140g onions, thinly sliced
1 garlic clove, finely chopped

85g frozen spinach, defrosted
2tbsp fresh parsley, chopped
1tbsp fresh sage, chopped
1tsp balsamic vinegar
½ Granny Smith or small Bramley apple, peeled, cored and diced
125g pack goat's cheese, diced
125ml double cream
100ml milk
4 eggs
Salt and freshly ground black pepper
Salad or mixed vegetables, to serve

Method

Butter a 23cm loose-bottomed, fluted tart tin.
To make the pastry case, add the flour, salt, herbs and butter to a bowl and rub in until the mixture looks like fine crumbs. Stir in the cheese, then mix in the egg and enough milk to make a smooth, soft dough.
Lightly knead the pastry, then roll out on a lightly-floured surface until a little larger than the tart tin. Lift the pastry over a rolling pin and press into the tin. Trim the top of the pastry a little above the top of the tin, to allow for shrinkage, prick the base with a fork then chill for 30 minutes.

Preheat the oven to 190C/gas mark 5. Line the tart case with a circle of non-stick baking paper and baking beans, then bake for 10 minutes. Remove the paper and beans and cook for five more minutes, until the base is crisp and dry. Set aside.

Meanwhile, make the filling. Add the potatoes to a saucepan of boiling water and cook for four to five minutes (until just tender) and drain.

Heat the oil in a frying pan, add the onion and garlic and fry over a medium heat for five to 10 minutes, until softened and lightly-coloured.

Add the spinach to a sieve and press out the water with the back of a spoon. Stir into the onions then mix in the parsley, sage and balsamic vinegar. Fry gently until the mix starts to dry, then take off the heat.

Spoon half the spinach mix into the base of the tart case. Scatter the potatoes, apple and remaining spinach mix into the tart, then top with the goat's cheese.

Whisk the cream, milk, eggs and a little salt and pepper together in a jug then pour into the tart.

Bake at 180C/gas mark 4 for 35-40 minutes, until the top is golden brown and the filling set.

Leave to stand for up to 10 minutes before removing from the tart tin and slicing. Serve with mixed vegetables or salad.

Summer Fruit Crumble

SERVES 4-6

Ingredients

2 peaches, halved, stoned and sliced
1 medium Bramley apple, quartered, cored, peeled and cut into chunks
300g frozen mixed summer fruits

For the crumble topping:

140g plain flour
55g porridge oats
50g caster sugar
100g soft margarine
4tsp demerara sugar
Ice cream or custard, to serve

Method

Preheat the oven to 190C/gas mark 5.

Add the peaches, apple and frozen summer fruits to a 1.2L ovenproof dish and mix together.

To make the topping, add the flour, oats, sugar and margarine to a bowl and rub in until the mixture resembles fine crumbs. Alternatively, use an electric mixer.

Sprinkle the crumble over the fruit, then scatter with the demerara sugar. Bake for 20-25 minutes until the topping is golden and the fruit softened. Spoon into bowls and serve with a scoop of vanilla ice cream or hot custard.

PLACE TO BLOSSOM

INTERIORS >with Chris Read

The burnt oranges and soft ochres perfectly complement the colour of the river, and you can accessorise the scheme by either adding a shot of burnt orange, as with this throw from Made.com, or be more subtle, using the throw from Rume, rume.co.uk

The sumptuous shocking pink of the petunias against the river is a glamorous look and is complemented either by using one standout chair, from the Kae collection at the frenchbedroomcompany.co.uk or again a simple throw, here from Ville et Campagne, villeetcampagne.co.uk

Chicago river with Canada Geese: The source of my main inspiration – that wonderful cloudy but rich teal, with the geese making strong graphic statements

Here is one completed scheme. It directly references birds and has a glamorous Art Deco feel to it, with some metallics reflecting the water's sheen iPad with sample books: Sourcing paints and fabrics to match the photograph

Looking for inspiration

Ideas for interior design can come from many places but one of Chris Read's favourite sources is what she sees on her holidays

It's probably the question I'm asked the most: "Where do you get your ideas from?" And the truthful answer is never helpful: "Everywhere!"

It can be from walking in the countryside, catching glimpses of different colours and patterns in changing light. I saw a lovely and totally dilapidated barn in the pouring rain recently which had the most beautiful, faded complex colours against a dark grey sky which made me think of old brocades used in a contemporary space.

Paintings, old masters or modern artists, abstract or figurative, can be a fabulous source of inspiration as artists are intrinsically interested in form, colour, texture and proportion – all things that inform a good interior design.

One of the best sources is other interior designers' work – we tend not to say it, because it sounds like cheating, but we are all inspired by others' work, and of course most ideas are recycled. There is a fine but quite definite line between thinking "That's a great idea, I know how I can use that" to wholesale lifting of a scheme and using it as your own. Inspiration isn't always about the visual either, it can be from a book or newspaper article – it needn't be directly relevant, but sometimes it sets off a train of thought that ends up in a scheme. But, if I had to quantify it, I know I would find that the biggest sources of inspiration are holidays. This is a time when I'm more relaxed, have time for just looking and everything around me is new.

So I notice things, happy accidents of colour or texture or pattern swim into our view and are registered, or it might be an idea about home organisation that works well and looks good. I'm an inveterate photographer – or perhaps I should say 'snapper', as I'm technically ignorant, and just use my phone camera. The photos I have taken provide a lasting source of inspiration and I can spend hours building schemes from them. If I'm asked, I call it professional development, but my own word for it is playing.

Getting from photograph to scheme is then a matter of matching those colours, textures and patterns to products. If you are doing this yourself, the best ways are to go to a large department store, or your favourite interiors shop, with your image, either printed out or on your device and walk around looking for matches.

For some items you may be able to get samples, in others you may need to take a photo of the item (please ask!). Don't forget to photograph price and name details and note where you took it, as there is nothing more frustrating than not being able to locate it again if you want to buy. You might also want to use an images search engine – so putting in, say, 'pale blue easy chair' will provide you with lots of choices to inspire you. The website Houzz also has a huge gallery of images, both room sets and individual products. It's easy for me, sitting in my studio surrounded by pattern books, samples, paint fan decks and catalogues, but I still use the search engines.

The next stage is to put all the items together and see how they work with each other – although the proportions of items won't be correct, you will be able to see clearly what you like and don't like, what works and you can edit easily. This is the point to consider the 'story' – what is the overall feel or narrative you want and do all your items and samples work within that?

The example I'm using here was a recent trip to Chicago, which has the most amazing river running through it. I've not seen a colour quite like this and I took lots of photos of it. The one I liked the most is of two Canada geese floating at their ease and I've used this to build my schemes – there is always more than one scheme per inspiring photograph! I also couldn't resist using some more photos of the river to think of ways of totally changing the schemes by adding splashes of contrasting colour.

Happy holidays – and take lots of piccies!

FIRST DRIVE Skoda Kodiak

SKODA'S TOP SECRET SUV

By Stewart Smith

SO far, all the world has seen of Skoda's new seven-seat SUV is a heavily camouflaged model working as a support vehicle during the Tour de France cycle race – but we have just had the chance to get up close and personal with the all-new Kodiak in the metal.

It doesn't go on sale in the UK until the first quarter of next year but first impressions are that the Kodiak – named after the 3,500 brown bears that live on a remote island in the Kodiak archipelago off Alaska – will have a big impact.

It's Skoda's entry into the bigger SUV market, which is all the rage at the moment, and after an exclusive viewing at Skoda's main production centre in the Czech Republic I was impressed with it inside and out.

It has sleek lines which give it a sporty look with a sloping roofline, a front end with Skoda's new distinctive face featuring a wide grille, slender headlights and slightly flared wheel arches plus a clam-shaped bonnet.

The Kodiak will have its world premiere in September and apart from its appearances in disguise during last month's cycle race and images of heavily camouflaged prototypes testing on the road the best clue to its looks have come from an artist's impression which is quite close to reality.

Our preview was carried out under high security with all cameras and imaging devices confiscated as a precaution.

At 4.70 metres long the new SUV, which will come as a five or seven-seater, offers the largest boot capacity in its class with up to 2,065 litres of room with all seats folded in the five-seater.

The adjustable rear seats come as standard and the backrests can be tilted as required. The optional couple of third row of seats will suit little ones or adults on a shorter journey.

I was also impressed with the amount of head and legroom available and seating both front and rear was supportive.

Skoda's "Simply Clever" programme comes into play in the new Kodiak and includes plastic door-edge protection that deploys automatically to avoid damaging the vehicle in garages or car parks.

There's also an electric child safety lock for the youngest passengers as well as a sleep comfort package with special headrests for long trips plus an ice scraper in the petrol cap and umbrella slot in the doors.

Skodas are no longer the cheap option, and the build quality of the new Kodiak bears this out, plus the Czech manufacturer probably offers more standard and optional gear than some of its competitors at a competitive price.

To assist drivers the Kodiak offers a range of aids including adaptive cruise control, blind spot detection, parking control and braking function, city emergency brake system, electrically operated tailgate, full LED headlights as an option and LED tail lights as standard plus a heated steering wheel.

In this high tech world, where communication on the move is deemed standard, Skoda has put a lot of thought into the new SUV.

The new Kodiak is well equipped when it comes to the intelligent pairing of car and smartphone.

A SmartLink platform, with Apple CarPlay, Android Auto, MirrorLink and SmartGate, is optional for the entry-level Swing infotainment system.

SmartLink is a standard feature for more advanced infotainment systems. The Skoda Phonebox with inductive charging connects the smartphone to the roof aerial and charges it wirelessly.

The Kodiak comes in two or four-wheel drive and although not an off-roader as such it has a reasonably high ground clearance and could be useful in adverse terrain and it has a towing capacity of 2.5 tonnes.

At the touch of a button, all the relevant systems – engine management, assistance systems, electronic chassis systems, such as ABS and ESC, as well as the suspension if combined with an optional dynamic chassis control system – automatically adjust to off-road conditions.

At launch there will be a choice of five engines: two diesels and three turbo petrols.

The most powerful petrol engine, the 2.0-litre TSI petrol can kick out 180bhp but the biggest sellers will probably be the diesel TDI versions which come in at 2.0-litre 150 and 190bhp. There will be a choice of six-speed manual or six-speed DSG automatics.

Skoda has yet to announce prices but the Kodiak is likely to be around £22,000 for the entry level model. Competition is fierce in the family-size SUV sector and the Kodiak will be up against the likes of the Hyundai Santa Fe, Nissan X-Trail and VW Tiguan and others, but first impressions are that the new Skoda SUV should hold its own.

Public Notices*Essex County Council*(Various Roads, District of Harlow)*(Temporary Prohibition of Traffic) (No.2) Order 2016

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily close the various lengths of road in the District of Harlow as specified:

Road Name	Descriptions	Alternative Route	Times
The Fairway, Harlow	From its junction with Tawneys Road, north east for a distance of approximately 500 metres.	Tawneys Road, Tilegate Road and vice versa.	20:00h - 05:00h
Church Road, Harlow	From its junction with London Road, south west for a distance of approximately 280 metres.	No alternative route available.	09:00h - 17:00h

The works being undertaken will take place within an 18 month period from 11 August 2016, exact dates and time will be specified on <http://roadworks.org/>. The roads will be closed to facilitate each phase and then re-opened to the public. Access will be maintained for pedestrians and emergency services. Diversion routes will be signed at each location and residents will be informed of the dates of each phase via letter/leaflet drop and advanced warning signs on the road.

Phase One

Planning existing road surface. These works comprise of using machinery to plane off the existing deteriorated road surface to a specified depth and raising/replacing iron works (manhole covers and gullies).

Phase Two

Surfacing. The process entails the laying of various different courses of material for highway construction via machinery. Dependent on the site, a base course may be laid first in order to strengthen the road where needed. After the base course, a binder course is laid. Again, this course is a load bearing layer to improve the roads lifespan. The final layer is the wearing course, this is the final road surface that will be driven on. Once laid, the wearing course is rolled level with machinery to provide a smooth running surface. The completed works will prevent the ingress of water which causes deterioration of the road surface and will improve skid resistance.

Phase Three

(a) Reinstatement of white lines if required. Reinstatement of any road markings.
(b) Reinstatement of any road studs.

For all enquiries please contact our Contact Centre on 0345 603 7631

The Order will come into effect on 11 August 2016 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Town take huge steps to safety after thriller

Alderson keeps his cool to down Horndon on final ball

by Oliver Harbord

oliver.harbord@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town took a big step away from the Essex League Division Two relegation places with a thrilling four-wicket win over Horndon on the Hill.

Horndon batted first and put on a decent total of 274 before they were eventually bowled out.

Damien Sweet struck 83 for the visitors, while Town's Daniel Farmer took 5-43.

In reply, the top three of Daniel Baldwin (42), Ashley Alderson (44) and Joe Holland (40) all fell in the forties, and the chase was left to number seven and eight, Farmer and Scott Alderson.

Scampered

The penultimate over saw a four scored by Alderson and four singles, leaving Harlow Town requiring 12 off the final six balls.

Two twos, a dot ball, a two and then another scampered two left Scott Alderson with the task of hitting four off the last ball of the innings to win.

With Ryan Madder running in, Alderson set himself, aiming for the vacant, unmaned area towards wide mid-on.

Alderson pierced the infield and then saw the ball race towards the fence.

COOL UNDER PRESSURE: Scott Alderson hit the winning runs with a four off the last ball

The next few moments were a blur to anyone at the ground cheering on Harlow Town as players and supporters alike celebrated the victory.

Skipper Neil Gladwin said:

"To win any game of cricket is brilliant, but to win a game in this manner is why we all still play this game. Our top order set up the win, but one of them should've gone on to complete the job for us.

"The way the two boys batted towards the end was magnificent. Farmer is obviously coming on leaps and bounds with the bat, and paired with Scott, they played the situation magnificently.

"There was no panic between the two, they just kept chipping away at the total and then Scott's final ball sent us into raptures.

"Scott has put in a lot of hard work over the last couple of years and he thoroughly deserves to be the hero of the moment. I'm elated for him.

"Anyone at the ground will remember the game, and it showed the massive team spirit these group of players have forged."

Town travel to Old Southendian & Southchurch this Saturday, who sit one place above them in fourth.

The second team suffered a two-wicket defeat to Ardleigh Green.

Jason Gladwin struck 52 and Alfie Elston 43 as Town posted 197 all out.

However, that wouldn't be enough as Green reached the target in the 40th over, with skipper Lloyd Edwards hitting 77.

Simon Rowell took 3-32, with Tyrone Mazarura claiming 2-22 and Bilal Ali 2-19.

The third team were also beaten by Woodford Green by 51 runs, while the fourth team lost to Gidea Park & Romford by 124 runs.

Nathan shows talent with ton

CRICKET: It was a mixed weekend for Harlow Cricket Club, but there was one shining light, 13-year-old Nathan Khelawon's brilliant century for the second team.

The first team lost at Orsett & Thurrock, after the hosts posted 217 before being bowled out.

Nicky Baxter (4-40) and Mustanser Meraj (3-9) were the stars with the ball, while Orsett's Mark Pavitt fell six short of a century with 94.

Hafiz Yawar Afzal (40) and Ahmed Khawaja (61) got the chase off to a good start, but no other batsmen were really able to stick around.

Paul Bennett took 3-36 as Harlow were bowled out after 48 overs.

Harlow sit fifth in Essex League Division One with five games remaining and host Hadleigh and Thundersley this Saturday.

However, the second team won convincingly against West Essex thanks to Khelawon's efforts.

He scored a brilliant 112, and along with Conor Ramsay's 56 Harlow posted 284-5 from their 45 overs.

West Essex never looked like getting near the total, being bowled out for 109.

Danny Stone took 4-13, with Joe Riddell claiming 3-29.

The third team put in a brave display as they lost narrowly against top of the league Wanstead and the fourths continued their brilliant run of form with a decisive win against Loughton.

HAWKS ROCKED BY MELAUGH INJURY

Flying midfielder out for 'up to two months'

by Oliver Harbord
sportsdesk@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town have been dealt a blow ahead of their Ryman Premier season with the news that Ryan Melaugh could be out for "up to two months".

The former Colchester United youth player suffered a suspected dislocated shoulder in the Hawks' 1-1 draw with VCD Athletic on Tuesday night.

And it is bad news for the midfielder as manager Danny Chapman predicts Melaugh may be out of action for some time.

"Unfortunately he is going to be out for at least two months, I would have thought," Chapman said.

"His shoulder came out, a dislocated shoulder, and it is something that has happened to him before, years ago.

"He had an operation to try to stop it from happening again, but unfortunately it has.

"Ryan is going to see a fracture specialist next week, where hopefully we will know a little bit more about how long it may be, but provisionally we are looking at two months.

"He turned, came together with another player and then fell and it just popped out."

Despite the set-back to one of his players, Chapman has been impressed with the levels of fitness that his players are showing.

The Hawks have one pre-season game left - away at Romford this Saturday - before their campaign gets under way on August 13.

And Chapman can't wait to get the summer out of the way and get into league football.

"Pre-season is all about fitness and the one thing we have shown in all the games is that we have been fitter than the opposing team, which is a good sign," Chapman added.

"Since the second half of the Ware game, then the East Thurrock United game and against VCD we have started to put in performances that will stand us in good stead.

"The good thing nowadays is that most players come back with a decent level of fitness anyway, so a lot of it is more about sharpness than anything else, rather than endurance.

"Despite the promotion, we haven't gone about our pre-season any other way.

"We set up our pre-season with what we need to get done and the good thing is that, apart from Ryan, we haven't had any injuries and people have been there on a regular basis.

"Everyone is looking in good shape.

Intensity

"We will need to bring someone in to cover Ryan, but he is a member of this club and we wouldn't bring in anyone permanently to replace him.

"I have got to be honest, I hate pre-season as the games are never at the same intensity of league matches.

"Our message to the boys on Saturday is that it has to be as though it is our first league game.

"That is the way we will approach it and hopefully we can get a good performance to go into the following week.

"I never organise a midweek game going into the first league match, I don't believe in that because if you get an injury then you have no time to recover.

"Hopefully this Saturday we will get a decent performance."
